SNATCHED FROM THE SEA

The wireless at sea with its stations crackling in liner operating rooms, informed an anxious world the other evening that Captain Frank T. Courtney and the three companions who set out with him from the Azores in a proposed seaplane hop to Canada, had been lifted from their wrecked ship in mid-Atlantic.

When Courtney and his companions began experiencing trouble they radioed for help. Immediately several trans-oceanic passenger and freight vessels turned from their courses and started for the floundering seaplane. The rescue was effected in the unemotional fashion typical of the sea. And the word of the rescue was flashed in every direction in a brief message.

None of the heroics which the occasion certainly demanded were found in the message telling of the rescue. It was an every-day piece of business for the sailors of the Minnewaska. They simply picked up Courtney and his companions, signalled full steam ahead, and proceeded on their way to their next port of call.

How different is this story than the stories of daring airmen and sailors who have gone down at sea, never to be heard of. The ocean has claimed many lives, and there have been effected many daring rescues. But today, thanks to the radio and the wireless, the legendary thrills of rescues at sea are fast slipping into the discard.

Today a vessel in trouble, or an airman experiencing difficulty with his ship, merely radios for help, and almost instantly there is someone on the way to lend a hand. It may be that the sea is slowly losing much of its thrill, at least for the land-lubber, but it cannot be disputed that the radio and the wireless are responsible for the saving of many lives.

A GOMPERS' MEMORIAL

Organized labor proposes erection of a marble shaft at Washington in memory of Samuel Gompers. This is a tribute which is deserving—one that labor should gladly finance. But for Sam Gompers, organized labor today would amount to little more than it did when he became its national president.

Sam Gompers rose from the humble ranks of a cigar maker to president of the American Federation of Labor, and during the stormy years he held that important position, attacked from within his organization, and assaulted from without, he nevertheless carried on in the firm belief that his cause was a righteous one. The success which attended his efforts has proven the soundness of his reasoning.

A memorial of some kind to Mr. Gompers, erected in the national capital where organized labor has its executive offices, is little enough to do for the man who made the A. F. of L. a living thing. President William L. Green, who succeeded Mr. Gompers, and who is a Coshocton, O. resident, is behind the memorial movement. That should insure its success.

What Others Say

AIRPORTS AND TERRITORY
No other state is as nearly covered by air mail routes as is Michigan, under a service inaugurated with elaborate ceremonies at Kalamazoo last week, in the presence of many representatives of aviation and the postoffice department.

From Muskegon, well up its western coast, mail planes will fly south, with a stop at Grand Rapids. From Bay City, well up its eastern coast, planes will fly southwest, with stops at Lansing and other points. From Detroit planes will fly west with such stops as will serve the public now and in the future.

At Kalamazoo will be the clearing house of all three state lines for mail matter from the north that is to go on to the west or to the east, and for mail matter from those directions with which the planes are to return to the north. Each stopping point, in turn, is a clearing house from which mail brought by planes may be distributed for some miles around by free rural delivery or other agencies and to which mail may be sent by the same agencies to be forwarded by plane.

The part of the state south of a line drawn from Muskegon to Bay City is thus fairly well served by airplane and that part is not only a large fraction of the entire state territory, but includes nearly 80 per cent of the total population. That the upper terminus of the West Michigan line will progressively be changed to towns farther and still farther north than Muskegon and that of the East Michigan line to towns farther north than Bay City is probable. If the service is found to supply a real need and is profitable, the time when the entire lower peninsula will be covered in air service, leaving the upper peninsula to be covered by lines of different schedule is seen in the near future.

The reasons why the first comprehensive state air service is established thus early are worth studying. One not to be minimized is found in enterprising contractors who, after some experience, believe it will be advantageous to themselves under the new reduced rates of air postage. The great reason, however, is the interest in aviation of some half dozen moderately sized towns and their alertness in acquiring and improving landing fields with proper equipment. That other moderate-sized cities have the same interest and are planning airports of their own is one condition making the early extension of the state service probable.

Without this public-spirited provision, not only these cities, but considerable areas about them, would be deprived of the benefits of swift transit for their postal matter through the air. If these cities, at no small sacrifice, considering their size and means, have felt it a duty to create these modern airport facilities, in justice not merely to themselves but to their surrounding tributary territory from which they draw much of their prosperity, little occasion exists to emphasize the duty of prosperous, growing St. Louis.

For a clearing house on a tremendous greater scale in air mail, air passenger service, air traffic of all kinds, St. Louis is the logical point, and the provision made, if adequate, must be proportionately costly. The benefits of such a clearing house will extend for hundreds of miles in every direction. Voters denying support for the greater airport that has become a necessity will fall in their duty to the people of their own city and also to great numbers of people in wide areas of the forty-ninth state whose welfare is so closely linked with St. Louis.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SWISS GLACIERS AGAIN ON MOVE. SCIENTISTS SAY

Geneva, Aug. 7. — Glaciers in Switzerland are once more on the move, according to a recent report made by Swiss scientists, and this time it is a step backward as in 1927. The year previous was an exceptional one for their advance forward. Heavy rainfall and comparatively warm weather has changed the direction.

The most important event in the history of the Swiss glaciers during the past year was the formation of a huge pocket of water in the Crete Seche glacier, in the valley of Bagnes, Valais canton. A large lake began to form and it was feared that the pressure of the water might cause the ice to burst as in the year 1898 producing a serious accident.

A large tunnel was bored into the ice and within a few weeks the lake was entirely emptied. Minor accidents, due to the bursting of water pockets, occur nearly every year, in spite of the careful watch over the ice masses by the scientists.

WATCH THESE SIGNS FOR KIDNEY TROUBLE

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

There is always a definite reason for a headache. It is not cured when you take headache medicine. It may be covered up or held in check by the tablet or water. But the cause remains.

There are many causes for headache. One of them is failure of kidney action.

Constantly recurring headaches for which no obvious cause can be found, as, for instance, exposure to the hot sun or other intense heat, may possibly come from some kidney disturbance.

Where there is serious kidney disease there are apt to be other symptoms than headache. The skin may appear waxy. Its natural glow and color disappear.

Puffiness of the eyelids and swelling of the ankles may be symptoms. When the shoes and stockings are removed, it is found that the legs are swollen and soggy-like. When you press the skin with your finger it leaves a dent or pit.

Usually kidney trouble shows itself, too, by loss of appetite, bad breath and gradual decrease in weight. Certain skin conditions may be due to it.

There may be sickness at the stomach and vomiting. Fever may be present. In every way there is evidence of real illness in most cases of serious kidney disease.

On the other hand, the presence of kidney involvement may be unsuspected. The symptoms I have mentioned, together with pain in the back and changes in the physical appearance of the urine, may be utterly lacking.

Everybody these days preaches the importance of frequent physical examinations. No such survey is considered complete unless it includes a thorough testing of the urine.

I am sorry to say there are advertising "laboratories" where very imperfect and unscientific examinations of the urine are made. Let me say at once, however, that their number is small. The laboratories the doctors recommend are honestly and scientifically conducted.

Have your doctor test the urine or have him recommend a good place to have it done. If you are past 50 this should be done every year and it should be done occasionally by everybody, young and old.

Careful tests will reveal the kidney condition and tell the story of whether or not these organs are performing their functions in a normal manner.

It costs little to forestall disease. Early knowledge means restoration to health and to the average expectation of life. You cannot afford to neglect the simple things which make for health and vigor.

BANKING SYSTEM SIZE DECREASES

Smaller Number of Banks In U. S. Hailed As Far Reaching Betterment

Washington, Aug. 7.—The American Banking system is rapidly being concentrated into a smaller number of financial institutions, it was learned today at the office of the comptroller of the currency and the federal reserve board.

Officials said that the result is a far-reaching improvement in the country's banking system, great stability, fewer failures and an increasing position of security for depositors.

All banks, including national, federal reserve member and state and other institutions, number approximately 27,000, a reduction of 3,000 since 1923, although the resources of over $68,100,000,000 are more than $14,000,000,000 greater than five years ago.

The number of national banks alone decreased 300 since 1920 with approximately 7,700 now in operation. At the same time the national bank resources increased by $6,000,000,000 to $28,000,000,000.

Both the controller's office, in charge of national banks, and the federal reserve board, said that the general tendency is toward consolidation and greater strength of a fewer number of banks.

Officials frankly admitted that the country has been "over-banked" since the war.

CHAUTAUQUA

Monday night, the first night, his subject was "The Man Who Can."

Much Humor in Address

In this lecture Mr. Bennett sought to show his auditors the possibilities within themselves and about them. Although he gave them much food for thought he kept them in almost continual laughter.

Through his lecture Mr. Bennett discussed many present day problems, including the farm problem and peace.

The speaker said: "All great men come from the farm. It takes more brains to be a successful farmer than anything else on earth." He is of the opinion that no politician on earth can solve the farm problem; that the farmer is not as bad off as he is used to be, and that things are improving on the farm.

Praises Modern Youth

"What Salem is in 15 years from now depends on the boys and girls of today," he said. The speaker pointed out that the boys and girls are the city's greatest asset and should be looked upon as such.

"I have not gone back on youth," he declared. "The young people today represent the finest of any era of the world."

"Women's clothes are all right—what there is of them. We are living in a condensed age—and a swift age. The women are better looking and more healthful than they used to be."

Brothers' Program Pleases

In discussing health and beauty Mr. Bennett advised his auditors to conquer hate in their lives.

The Shumate brothers gave the opening program in the afternoon and delighted the audience with vocal and instrumental selections. They were very enthusiastically received. These young men are talented musicians.

They gave a part of the evening entertainment. It included classical and sacred numbers.

Will Blame Republicans

In his reply to White the governor is planning to point to the fact that virtually all of the time when he was a member of the assembly the Republicans were in complete control of the house, and that if any legislation in the interest of the liquor traffic was passed the Republicans were to blame, because they could have blocked it.

According to friends of the governor he will make it clear in his reply to White that he is not ashamed of his assembly record. He also will stress the point, it was said, that he always has been a foe of the saloon and is a believer in temperance.

Work On Ag. Plan

New York, Aug. 7.—Already committed to some plan for controlling the surplus crops of American farmers as an aid to agriculture, the Democratic National campaign managers today launched their quest for the specific program which they will offer the farmers in the election campaign.

The search is to be directed in behalf of the Democratic National committee by Professor E. R. A. Seligman, world authority on taxation and public finance and McClellan, professor of economics at Columbia university.

MYERS WINS IN SINGLE SCULLS

Philadelphia Man Beats Swiss In 2,000 Meters; Swim Mark Broken

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 7. — Kenneth Myers, of Philadelphia, defeated Candebau of Switzerland, in the single sculls of the Olympic rowing events this afternoon.

Myers' time was eight minutes and 53.5 seconds. Candebau's time was eight minutes and 11 seconds. The distance was 2,000 meters. At the 1,500 meter mark Myers was leading by three and one half boat lengths. The Swiss spurred and cut down the intervening distance.

Myers showed that he had plenty of reserve strength and was able to keep ahead of his opponent.

Fraulein Schrader, Germany, set a new world's record for the 200-meter breast stroke by winning her heat from Agnes Geraghty, New York, in 3:11.3-5 in the swimming championships today.

The old record was 3:12.2-5, made by Miss M. Baron, Holland, in 1926. Miss Geraghty was ten yards back of the new record holder at the finish of the heat.

Just before the German girl started her record race, Miss Helen Meany, New York, foremost diver, cut her head painfully in practicing on the diving board, the injury requiring several stitches. The injury proved to be a minor one, however, and Miss Meany announced immediately that she would not let it interfere with her competition.

In the regular stadium, quite a stir was occasioned by the appearance of Queen Wilhelmina in the royal box for the first time during the games. She watched with interest the parade of gymnasts from Holland, Hungary and Germany and a mass drill then put on directly afterward.

Jap Breaks Record

The Japan, Tsurutani, set a new Olympic record of 2:49 1-5 in winning his semi-final heat of the men's breast stroke event, with Spence, Canada, second. Thomas Blankenberg, Oakland, Cal., was a distant fourth in this heat, failing to qualify for the final.

Rademacher, Germany, the world's record holder for the distance at 2:48, was hard pressed to win the semi-final from Harling, Sweden. Another German, Sietas, was third. Rademacher was timed in 2:56 3-5. Clarence Crabbe, Honolulu, easily won his heat in the 400-meter swim, free style, with Yoneyama, Japan, second. Crabbe won by seven yards, without extending himself, in 5:09 4-5.

In another elimination heat of the 400-meter, free style, Arne Borg, the great Swede, gave one of his typical performances by beating Ray Ruddy, New York, A. C. by 15 yards. Borg was clocked in 5:09 3-5.

Chicago Club Aids College Graduates To Get Positions

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A hotel that procures employment for its jobless guests is the latest wrinkle in hotel management here.

The Allerton club, official Chicago residence of the Inter-Collegiate Alumni association has undertaken to secure employment for college men who are out of work and guests of the club.

Walter W. Dwyer, director of the club says that "the old story that a college man or woman has no more chance in the business world than a person without college training is pure bunk." In commenting on the employment situation here, Dwyer said that "the great majority of large firms demand the college trained man."

The Allerton club conducts its personnel bureau in co-operation with the Inter-Collegiate Alumni association free of charge and mails a "job list" to hundreds of colleges throughout the country.

Socialists to Have Ticket In Carolina

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—The Socialist party plans to enter North Carolina and put candidates in the field this year, it was learned here. Socialist headquarters have written the state board of elections regarding their ballots printed in North Carolina.

Previously they had been informed that it was too late for the state to print their tickets on the ballots, but that the party itself could print the ballots if they wished.

It was believed here that the party would confine its North Carolina activities to contests in congressional districts and the presidential race.

TRANSUE WILL SPEND $300,000

Alliance Plant's Output Will Be Increased By This Expenditure

Alliance, Aug. 7.—With net profits for the first six months of 1928 exceeding $196,000, the Transue and Williams Steel Forging corporation is spending $300,000 to increase the output of the Alliance plant before January 1, 1929.

Four new hammers have been installed in the hammer department. The fifth is to be ready for operation this week. Twenty additional hammers have been ordered and are to be in operation before January 1, increasing the hammer battery to 115 machines. The hammer purchase will represent an investment of $135,000.

Floor space and equipment capacity of the press department is being doubled. The die department equipment is being increased 25 percent and the shearing department capacity 50 per cent.

The expenditure for increasing the plant and enlarging the administration building will be paid from 1928 profits.

Profits for the first six months, which amounted to more than $196,000 were increased by an additional $64,329 which the company collected from the United States government as excess taxes paid in 1927 and 1918.

With the installation of the new equipment, the payroll of the plant will be increased from its present list of 1,000 to about 1,300 men. The plant is working two nine-hour shifts a day at the present time.

At present, Transue and Williams has a large number of orders on books, with an indication that this will continue for the last half of the year.

New office quarters of the plant are being occupied.

How can we improve it?

"How can we make it better?" is the constant cry of manufacturers of advertised merchandise.

Why?

It might well be pride in the product that bears their good name. Often it is.

But not always.

It's just good, hard-headed business, mostly. The improvement of a product that is already considered satisfactory makes that product play a more definite part in the life of the user. It wins and holds an added loyalty, and, of course, added business.

Every product being advertised in these pages is studied continuously by its maker in order that it may be more and more useful and helpful to you in your daily life.

Isn't that the sort of merchandise you want? It's all presented in a straightforward, honest way here in the advertisements, day after day. Read them for economy's sake!

Advertised merchandise is trustworthy merchandise.

Two Men Running for Indiana Governor Stars On Sports Field

Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—Regardless of whether the Democrats or Republicans win the doubtful state of Indiana this fall, a distinguished athlete is bound to be the next governor of the Hoosier state. For both Frank C. Dailey, the Democratic nominee, and Harry G. Leslie, the standard bearer of the Republicans, were heroes in the college sport world several decades ago.

Dailey made the baseball team while a freshman at Indiana university and then was captain of the varsity nine for two years. During the four years of his undergraduate life he played half back on the first football team.

Athletic Victories

Dailey's knowledge of how to hit the line acquired from his years of the prosecution of former Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan and other challenging legal tasks he has mastered since his graduation from the law school of the university in 1894. It perhaps aided him in founding The Bluffton (Ind.) News while still too young to vote.

More than one victory of the Purdue university football team was due to the determination and skill of Leslie, who played end and half back for four years and took a flyer at first base on the varsity nine, subsequently becoming the university's athletic director. Although he is the dignified alumni secretary of the school, his college nickname, "Skillet," has stuck with him.

Football Star

Despite the fact that Leslie has been lucky enough to be a United States commissioner and to have held the office of speaker of the House of Representatives, he says Dame Fortune smiled most upon him away back in 1903.

On Oct. 31 of that year Leslie was riding a train to Bloomington with the Purdue football team for the annual gridiron contest with Indiana university. The train collided with a string of coal cars and 16 members of the football squad were killed. Leslie was given up for dead but after spending 38 weeks in the hospital, recovered. He still bears the scars of that accident.

So, no matter what the result, the sport fans of Indiana have little fear that the next state administration will interfere with their pleasure.

New York—Dr. Louis T. Wright is to be the first negro police surgeon in this city. He was second in an examination of 176 applicants for two vacancies, making 89.1 out of a possible 100. He was born in La Grange, La., the son of a physician, and was educated in Atlanta.

STUBER STUDIES NEW YORK PLAN OF CONSERVATION

Secretary of Council Is Looking Over Methods To Save Wild Life

New York, Aug. 7.—A study of the New York plan for conservation of natural resources, under the conservation commission, finance and administration, is being made by James W. Stuber, secretary of the Ohio Conservation Council, Columbus, O., who is visiting New England states where marked progress is being made in conservation of forests, game and wild life, under bi-partisan forms of administration through the conservation commission plan.

The Ohio conservation council made up of the Federated Women's clubs of Ohio, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the League of Ohio Sportsmen, the Izaak Walton League, the Ohio Forestry Association, the Ohio Archaeological and Historical society, the Ohio State Game and Farm Bureau Federation, is planning a state department of conservation and drafting the legislation to be placed before the legislature in January.

Stuber Problem

While in New York Mr. Stuber was a luncheon guest of Col. Theodore Roosevelt with whom he conferred on conservation problems, together with Edward Kelley, secretary to Gov. Trumbull of Connecticut, Harold McNader of Mass. City, Ia., formerly first assistant Secretary of War, and Dr. John W. Ryskind of Springfield, Mass., educational director of the Izaak Walton League.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed to the marked progress in conservation in New York as well as in Pennsylvania where deer, bear, grouse and other game is showing rapid increase. Mr. Stuber was also in conference with officials of the American Game Protective association, the Game Breeders' institute, and of the New York city office of the state conservation commission.

"After visiting various states where game is on the increase like in New York, I am convinced that the department of conservation plan with a non-partisan form of administration is the thing for Ohio, where more progress is needed. The way to have more game and wild life is to propagate game, and make waste lands produce game.

"Wild Game as a Crop

"Wild game should be regarded as a crop. It will put money in the farmers' pockets. Legalizing against hunters and game, will not raise more game. Game breeding along scientific lines is needed in every state. Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut are all making rapid strides in replacement of game, and wild life. Ohio is not. The forestry program goes hand in hand with the more game movement. I have received reliable information of deer within the city limits of New York city, increase in deer and other game on Long Island, plenty of deer near Bridgeport and New Haven, Connecticut, and Pennsylvania, shot out 25 years ago, is overrun with deer to my actual knowledge. This shows what can be done in game replacement under proper methods close to civilization, even in densely populated regions."

Mr. Stuber who is also a member of the editorial staff of Sportsman's Digest, a big game hunter and conservationist, related.

POTTERY SEEKS TITULAR GAME

Frank Scullion Lining Up China Team; Wants to Meet Billiards

A challenge was issued today by the Salem China, which has spread its athletic activities to regulation baseball by taking on the Beloit Independents at Beloit tonight, to the Schafer Billiards for a series of three games for the city championship.

The defy is thrown by Frank Scullion, recently returned and shaved member of the House of David road club, who declared that the ware manufacturers are moulding together an outfit that will make the Billiards hustle.

The games will be played at Centennial park, probably Sunday afternoon.

Scullion and members of the Schafer tried to get together Monday night at the park to promote the game but nothing definite was arranged.

The Billiards have had a mediocre season this year, winning about one-third of their games and present one of the weakest lineups to represent Salem in the independent baseball field in several years.

PEAT ISSUES CHALLENGE TO SALEM GOLFERS

"Private" Harold R. Peat, Canadian World War hero, lecturer and author who appears on the chautauqua platform here Wednesday night, today issued a public challenge for a match to any Salem golfer, except professionals.

Peat, almost as good a golfer as he is speaker, issues this challenge in every city he appears, and his backers say, seldom loses a match.

He would like to try out the caliber of Salem's best golfers and contest with them on the Salem Golf club course Wednesday afternoon. Anyone desiring to accept his challenge should notify The News editorial department.

ALL-STARS HIT DAMASCUS HARD

Memorials Tounce Quaker Outfit, 14 to 4, Last Night At Park

The prestige gathered by the Damascus Business Men at the hands of Salem "mush" ball outfits was considerably toned down Monday night at Centennial Park, when a collection of city playground league stars enjoyed a field day at Damascus' expense and trounced the Business Men, 14-4.

Incidentally it was the first Salem victory over Damascus in 13 games. Again, it was the worst licking received by the Quaker metropolis' representatives of the diamond all season.

The game was no fun, not even to the Memorials, as the Salem outfit was titled by its captain, Joe Kelley, for it was just one big inning after another. Starting with the first, when Salem batted around and crossed the platter seven times, the Business Men had little chance.

Neither pitcher had much; Gilbert was hit harder than Watkins, but the big difference came in the support. Watkins was given all, Gilbert little or none, for the fielding of the Quakers found much to be hunted and hoped for.

A return game will be played at Damascus soon, after which the teams will return to the park for the third go, should the Business Men win the second. Score:

Grattan Bars Wins $45,000; Other News Of Horses

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Grattan Bars, the sensational Canadian pacer who already has won over $45,000 this season, is scheduled to make his next appearance in the 2:15 pace at the Orange county circuit meeting here Wednesday.

The son of Grattan Royal and Polly M-nbars should encounter little difficulty in registering his seventh consecutive victory. Race fans from all over the state are expected to be on hand to see this whirlwind performer. He already has won more money in a single campaign than any other sidewheeler in history and is the only horse that has won three $25,000 stakes in one season.

Endicott, N. Y.—Leo Cahill, owner of the star three-year old trotting colt, Plucky, 2:08 1/2, turned down an offer of $11,000 for his horse. The son of Peter Volo, 2:02, now holds the world record of 2:09 1/2, for a two-heat race by a three-year-old trotting colt over a half-mile track.

Cleveland—Claims have resulted in two pacers changing hands at recent harness racing meetings. C. J. Martin, Huntsville, Ala., took Frisco Star, 2:02 1/2, from Frank Callahan, Tiffin, O., 2:04, from H. H. Newell, Burlington, Wis.

Victor in Sprint

Lexington, Ky.—The 2:10 trotting list received four more additions at the time record meeting conducted at the Grand Circuit track here. They are Margaret Mary (3) 2:08 1/2; Princess Gay (3) 2:09; Julep, 2:10; and The Great Fig Leaf, 2:10, a 13-year-old.

Roy Miller, manager of the local course, drove Margaret Mary to her mark. H. T. Horine was up behind both Julep and The Great Fig Leaf. W. C. Estes did the teaming behind Princess Gay.

Hanover, Pa.—Tommy Berry Hanover Shoe Farms trainer who drove Guy McKinley to the world trotting record of 1:58 1/2, for four-year-olds last year, placed another 2:10 trotting performer to the credit of the noted sire, Dillon Axworthy.

TOMMY SIGNED WITH SHARKEY

New York, Aug. 7.—Promoter Tex Rickard has signed Tommy Loughran for a bout with Jack Sharkey on Oct. 5 and Joe Smith, manager of the light-heavyweight champion, was to ask the New York State Athletic commission today to allow Loughran to enter the elimination scramble for the heavyweight title vacated by Gene Tunney. Sharkey, however, has not been signed by Rickard for the Loughran bout and is flitting with rival promoters.

Smith said Loughran would sacrifice the Sharkey match if ordered to relinquish his 175-pound title, as Jack Delaney did, as the price of entering the heavyweight ranks.

Commander Byrd Buys Kolster

Ellery W. Stone, president of Kolster Radio Corporation, announced this morning that an order has been placed by the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, scheduled to sail from New York on August 15 for a year and a half of exploration around the South Pole, for Kolster radio compasses, Broadcast receivers, loud speakers and head sets.

"This scientific expedition of 55 men will be better and more completely equipped with radio apparatus than any band of explorers in history and, because lives depend upon it, great care has been taken in its selection," said Mr. Stone. "It is a matter of profound satisfaction to Kolster Radio that Commander Byrd and his staff of radio experts have chosen Kolster equipment for such an exacting test. Much of the success of the expedition will depend upon accurate radio direction-finding, both on the voyage down to the ice base at the Bay of Whales and during subsequent explorations by radio-equipped airplanes and sled parties setting out from the base near the South Pole.

"The Kolster radio compasses will be used, one on the base ship and another in a portable radio house about 10 miles removed, to form a base-line for triangulation on radio signals from advance parties, so their exact location will always be known. Eighteen aviator's helmets have been equipped with Kolster headsets for reception of radio messages from the base ship. Two Kolster broadcast receiving sets and eight Kolster speakers will keep up morale on the tedious three months' voyage to the Antarctic. When the base village is set up on the ice, the speakers will be distributed among the portable houses for entertainment from broadcast stations in many different countries."

MOVIES

"RAMONA"

"Ramona" is a simple story, told in a simple way, but its emotional content, put forward so strongly by the powerful cast which is featured in the picture, is so outstanding, that it is said to be one of the year's five best films.

The famous Indian love story, which features Dolores Del Rio, Warner Baxter and Roland Drew appears at the Grand tonight.

There are five great dramatic climaxes in the picture—the elopement of Ramona and Alessandro; the tragic death of their baby; the wanton massacre of defenseless Indians by a band of outlaws; the cruel murder of Alessandro and the beautiful restoration of Ramona's shattered memory.

There are other fine moments in the picture but these are the leading highlights.

Ramona and an Indian, Alessandro, (Warner Baxter) elope, and live in happiness with a little daughter, young Ramona. While living in their ecstasy a band of outlaws attack them, Alessandro is killed, and the baby dies. Ramona loses her memory and wanders through the desert and outcast until her boyhood sweetheart, Felipe (Roland Drew) finds her and wins her love to restore her memory.

Vera Lewis, John T. Prince, Jess Cavin, Carlos Amor and Mathild

Comot are the other members of the cast.

"THE ACTRESS"

After falling in love with an actress—an unrepentant social trespasser in his circle—a young Londoner and his sweetheart fight their way through the formalities of old England to win the favor of all England and the consent of the old orthodox English grandfather to their marriage.

As in all good pictures, the plot in "The Actress" which is at the State tonight, is simple, and the net of circumstances which seem to hold the hero and heroine apart slowly untangle through their own means.

The story is a quiet moving affair, little astounding action, with love as its central theme. In it are two leading male characters, played by Ralph Forbes and Owen Moore. While Norma Shearer is the leading feminine member to the cast.

Moore is a penniless playwright, with visions of the gold awaiting him when he sells his first story, but which he never realizes. He loves Miss Shearer, and seemingly has everything his own way until she, by chance, meets a young English millionaire, Ralph Forbes.

Moore quietly steps aside and aids her in winning her life's happiness and plays a powerful part in unfolding the plot in its masterful fashion.

Bridal Veils, Rings, Rice and Old Shoes

Brides are always interested in wedding lore, no matter how modern their wedding ideas may be. The wedding ring, for instance, has run the gamut of iron, sedge, copper, brass, leather, beads and adamant to the gold and platinum of today. The first record of it ap pears in Genesis fourth, where Tubal Cain was the "inventor of every kind of artifice." The old gummy ring was cunningly made so that after the ceremony it was divided so bride and groom each had a ring.

The ring finger has always remained the same, chosen as the safest finger and sentimentally said to have a vein connecting directly with the heart. The old superstition in selection of the day said:

"Monday for wealth, Tuesday for health, Wednesday best of all; Thursday for crosses, Friday for losses and Saturday no luck at all."

The origin of the wedding veil is a matter of dispute. The Crusaders were supposed to have brought the custom to western Europe, others claim it came from the Greeks and Romans who enshrouded their brides during the ceremony in a flaming yellow veil. Record says that Margaret Tudor at her wedding to James of Scotland wore the "first real veil" in western Europe. When Elizabeth Stuart married later, veils were out of fashion, so she wore flowing hair confined with a chaplet of flowers.

The "hennymoon" is a period lasting from a week to 30 days in customs of different countries. In rare cases it still endures for life. Rice throwing is a symbol of the saying "increase and multiply." The carrying a leaf of bread to the new home—for prosperity—is a German custom.

The casting of old shoes after the bride's carriage does not mean luck as it is generally supposed to do, but is really the casting off of frivolity.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

The Ever Popular Cheese Sandwich

The cheese sandwich is a general favorite and can be made in an almost endless variety of ways. Hot, cold, on rye or white bread, many different cheeses are sandwiched to suit the various tastes of consumers. The sauces, flavorful combinations and additions, are dictated by the trade in the sections served.

Bread should be at least a day old, butter should be softened by beating in a hot bowl, and the various dressings should be freshly mixed each day. Bread should be cut thin and crust removed. Lettuce should be washed, dried and chilled. After making, wrap the sandwiches in a damp linen cloth and put in a cool place until served.

Cream Cheese Fillings

Take two parts of cream cheese to one part of Roquefort, add a tablespoonful of cream, pepper, salt, a few drops of onion juice, a saltspoonful of sugar and a saltspoonful of paprika. Work to a smooth paste, adding a few drops more cream if too stiff. Use on white bread.

To one small cream cheese add a half saltspoonful of salt, a table-spoonful of cream, a heaping table-spoonful of quince jelly and a tea-spoonful of mixed olives and chopped nuts. Mix to a paste and spread on wholewheat bread.

To one cream cheese add a heaping table-spoonful of finely minced boiled chicken or calf's liver, a tea-spoonful of minced sweet pickle, pepper, salt, a saltspoonful of sugar, enough heavy sweet cream to soften. Mix to a paste, butter the bread slices with a little white mayonnaise then add the paste.

Hot Cheese Filling

Take freshly grated American rich and sharp cheese and sprinkle thickly on lightly buttered slices of white bread, dust with pepper and salt, set in the oven on a baking sheet and when they begin to melt put on the top slices and leave in.

the oven long enough to toast them delicately, remove from the oven and butter tops lightly. Serve hot. The bread may be brushed over with mustard before the cheese is added if liked.

Tomato and Cheese

Slice firm tomatoes in medium slices, dip the slices in heavy mayonnaise then in grated fresh Parmesan cheese, dust with paprika. Lay up on rounds of white bread lightly buttered. A small crisp lettuce leaf may be added but is not a necessity.

Grated Swiss Cheese

Grate a cupful of imported Swiss cheese. Add to the cheese enough well-made mustard, or mustard sauce, to make the mass a little paste like. If too hot add a very little heavy or whipped cream. Spread on white or rye bread over a very thin slice of cold boiled tongue or ham.

STYLE EDICTS

London, Aug. 7.—Some of the most bizarre fashions ever conceived will be worn by women this year, according to the dress experts who attended the drapery, textile and women's wear exhibition, recently held here.

Three typical fashions are:

Skull caps that hide the last remaining vestige of woman's hair.

Sports costumes with geometrical designs and with necks deliberately askew.

"Not since the days of be-wigged Georgian ladies have women so completely concealed their hair," one of the manufacturers in attendance stated. "The caps mostly have picturesque ear pieces that hide the ears too. Women will wear them instead of evening scarves at theaters, and even at private dinner."

Fashion has, literally speaking, gone crazy so far as sports wear is

Memorial Flight To Honor Aviators Who Died in Ocean

Faulkner, Kan., Aug. 7.—Trans-oceanic aviation has reached the stage of the memorial flight.

The first memorial flight on record will be made in October by C. B. White of Flint, Mich., who has been visiting his parents here. He announced a round trip flight to Hawaii in memory of J. A. ("Aug-gled") Pedlar and Miss Mildred Doran, who were lost in the Dole flight over the Pacific ocean last year.

White, 23 years old, is chief pilot for the Safety Air Service, Inc. of Flint. He will be chief pilot of the memorial flight and will be accompanied by a navigator from the United States navy and a woman passenger, Miss Verna Redpath of Flint, a friend of Miss Doran. The flight will be backed by the Flint chamber of commerce.

A multi-motored Ford plane, costing $50,000, is being built for the flight, White said. The takeoff will be from San Diego as near October 15 as the weather permits.

White's experience as an aviator has been an illustration of the possibility of beginning at the top and working down. He began as a parachute jumper for a barnstormer.

White knew nothing of aeronautics, but begged his partner for permission to pilot the plane. His partner refused and one day at Tulsa White "borrowed" a plane which had been left for weeks at the field and made a solo flight with fair results.

He flew his own American Eagle plane to Faulkner, Kan., on his present visit to his home town. He has been furnishing thrills to his parents and friends with free airplane rides over the town.

An Innovation in Evening Dresses

Hollywood Sponsors a Formal Gown with Long Sleeves. Period Tendencies Are Emphasized in Romantic Fashions for Summer

ALL that is delicate and feminine is being stressed in the exquisite gowns of period tendencies exhibited for the summer season.

Ever alert to sponsor the newest in modes, Hollywood has put its seal of approval upon the evening gown of romantic tendencies. And Doris Kenyon, First National feature player, is one to sponsor an innovation in formal frocks.

Miss Kenyon has selected one of the alluringly feminine and distinctive gowns of the season sponsoring all that is feminine in clothes. The gown is of tulle and lace over a foundation of white satin. Point d'esprit lace is lavishly used from the bodice to the floor. The hem of deep points is beautifully applied in flowers and leaf designs. Gardenias and orange blossoms in streamer effect decorate the left shoulder. The most important features, of course, are the long sleeves of lace and the lace trimming. The whole effect is one of exquisite delicacy and flattering delicacy.

Evening gowns as a whole are being used to express the most daring of the innovations which mark the season a successful one. Women are once again expressing their feminine allure in gowns of subtle drapery, in frills, in clinging robes and all sorts of fluttering and flattering gowns of romantic appeal.

There are the robes de style seen in the heavy, formal fabrics of moire, lame, satin and brocade, while the softest and most femininely fluttering of materials such as chiffon, lace, tulle, point d'esprit and nets are seen in gracefully billowing sleeves of the romantic age.

Row upon row of the soft, delicate materials are used to establish these femininely picturesque frocks. Exquisite shades and trimming of a feminine nature are other important features. Ribbons, sashes, flower applique, hand work and embroidery all lend the charm of olden days to the modern be-ruffled and be-ribboned girl.

While necks have a manner of bestowing importance to the formal gown and most of the newest models feature sleeveless modes, the startling innovation of the long-sleeved evening dress is one that is apt to become one of arresting importance as the season advances.

SIMPLE SPORTS FROCK

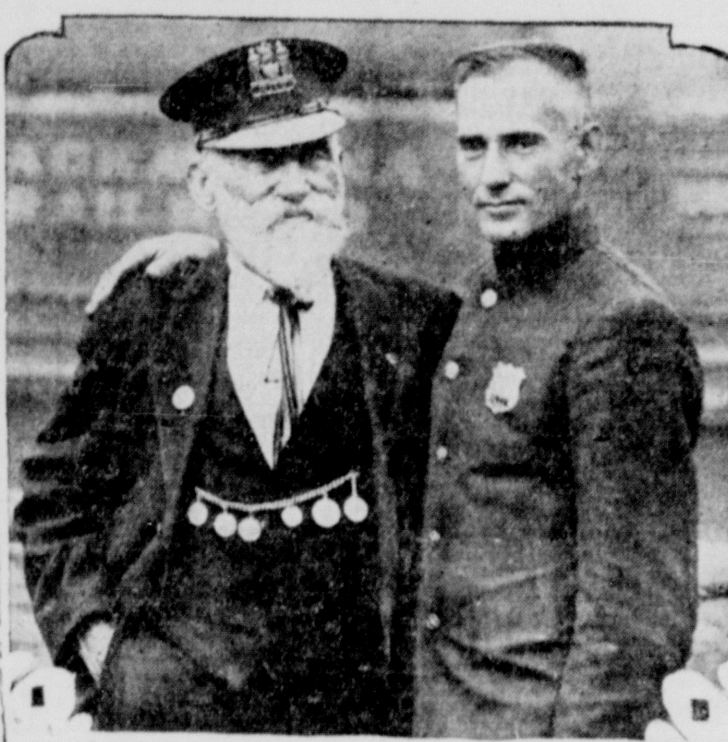

The trim simplicity of this sports frock makes it not only smart but also comfortable and practical. The kimono sleeves are cool and allow for freedom of movement, but may be lengthened with sleeves which are gathered at the wrists. Flannel for this model, and when the V-shaped neckband and skirt are made to contrast with the blouse, true distinctiveness is achieved. When long sleeves are used, this frock may be rendered in heavy flat crepe or crepe de Chine making it suitable for afternoon wear. The belt may be of self-material or of novelty leather.

Pictorial Pattern No. 4213. Sizes 14 to 18 years and 34 to 48 bust, 45 cents.

Tomorrow's paper will show a charmingly feminine afternoon frock.

People Most Free Of Illness Between 20 and 25 Years

The interesting statement is made by Surgeon General H. S. Cummings of the United States Public Health Service, that the age period in which human beings are most free from sickness of any kind is between 20 and 25 years.

In infancy and early childhood they are most subject to illness, but in late childhood and adolescence the "curve of ill-health" drops rapidly to a minimum; thereafter it gradually rises until another maximum is reached in old age.

This is one of the many interesting facts that have come out of a unique study made by the U. S. Public Health Service, the results of which are now being published.

Hagerstown Test Place

The study is unique in the sense that an entire white population group composed of nearly 8,000 persons of all ages and both sexes, living under ordinary conditions in Hagerstown, Md., which is considered to be a representative small city of the middle eastern section of the United States, was kept under continuous observation for the occurrence of sickness for nearly two and one-half years.

So far as known, it is the first study of its kind made in the world. While morbidity records are available for special groups of persons, such as children attending school and persons employed in factories, this survey included babies and small children, women in their homes, invalids and the aged; in fact, all persons composing a typical population.

The causes of sickness at different

Cannibal Relics On Solomons Are Found

Sydney, Aug. 7.—Discovery of cannibalistic relics on the island of Bourgainville, in the Solomon Islands, was reported by members of the crew of the Malwara when the ship docked here after a trading trip among the South Sea Islands.

The crew members declared they found ample evidence of human sacrifice in a cave on the island which they explored.

It is known that when missionaries settled in the larger islands, many of the natives transferred to the smaller island where they were able to continue their cannibalistic practices unmolested. They held orgies in secret caves under the pretext of "rain-making feasts," and it is believed the relics just discovered are the remains of one of their "feats."

UNKNOWN TOMB SOON COMPLETE FOR ARLINGTON

Five Competing for Right To Design Finishing Memorial Touches

Washington, Aug. 7.—The tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National cemetery, which since Nov. 11, 1921, has been marked with a plain marble slab, will be completed and immortalization of unnamed American dead of the World war accomplished within a year.

This announcement, from the War department commission in charge of the tomb, was based on the fact that there remains at present only the selection of an appropriate design for the tomb from five drawings and appropriation of the necessary funds for construction, $50,000, by congress, for actual completion of the work.

It is considered likely congress will appropriate the funds early in December and that work will start immediately thereafter.

Five Competitors

In the meantime five competitors for the design to be used to complete the tomb are perfecting their drawings. Their designs were selected from 73 submitted to the commission. No date has been set for announcement of the winning design, but it will probably be made early this fall.

Much good work was shown in the 73 designs submitted to the judges appointed by the War department to pick the memorial and it was a hard matter to pick the best five from the group. The whole group is now on exhibition in the War department museum here. They range from the utmost simplicity to the grandeur and complication of Oriental carving and design work.

The five successful competitors in the contest were picked by a jury representing the American Institute of Architects, the Gold Star Mothers, and the American Legion. The drawings were submitted without names attached, and names were placed in envelopes, which were opened after the winning designs had been picked, by Victor Mindeleff, Washington architectural advisor to the group in charge of the contest. In most cases architects and sculptors combined in submitting designs.

Winning Designs

Those submitting the winning designs were: Schweinfurth, Ripley and LeBoutillier, architects of Boston; Thomas Hudson Jones, sculptor and Mortimer Rich, architect of New York; Harry Sternfeld, architect and Gaetano, sculptor of Philadelphia; James Earl Fraser, sculptor and Egerton Swartwout, architect of New York; and Horace W. Pease, architect and Carl Mose, sculptor of Washington.

Judges were Charles E. Coolidge, Boston; D. H. Burnham, Chicago, and Paul Cret, Philadelphia, representing the American Institute of Architects; Mrs. William D. Rock of Philadelphia, representing the Gold Star Mothers, and Col. Hanford MacNider representing the American Legion.

Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralize many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids, 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. Adv.
